BUILDING DRAWS ON LOCAL BANKS

Situation, Aside From Loans For Improvement, is Without Special Features.

HEALTHY TONE IN MARKETS.

Collections Are Reported as Being Exceptionally Good-The Warm Weather a Blanket on Market.

The local banking situation contimes without special features besond the continued demand for money, much of which is going into the completion of unfinished buildings, Local financiers are remarking that people as a general thing do not realize the extent to which building has been carried during the past year in this city. It is far beyond all previous records. A feature of interest is the conthreed remarkable increase of the hank clearings over and above those of the previous year. For the current year, including Friday, the total bank dearings amounted to $277.299,942.11, as empared with $293,993,497.58 for the period of time during 1968; and ase of $74,206,454,43.

HENRY CLEWS' LETTER. Henry Clews in his last circular let-

The monetary situation continues in-teresting. While there is no prospect of disturbance, the tendencies are not mand for money is worthware, spectral tion based on anticipation of recovery from the setback of 1997 having been the first cause for firmer rates, in due time business revival asserted itelf everywhere and made larger demands upon the world's monetary resources, somewhat to the disadvantage of expending the comparitments. This ulative commitments. This cosive speculative commitments. This revival in the demand for money is at bottom an evidence of good health, though the readjustment which it enforces in some quarters is not always agreeable. Speculative excesses have been most noticeable, as usual, in the States, where the rebound late panic was most pro-Germany, also, has been en-marked return of business a marked return or business activity, accompanied by more or less speculative overdoing. It consequently happens that the chief financial centers of the world are now protecting themselves against abnormal conditions; in other words, they are wisely putting on the brakes against peculative enthusiasm, and diverting heir resources to the requirements of egitimate trade.

HARDWARE.

The hardware trade reports no special events the current week, beyond the steady demand for builders' hardware to be used in buildings now being completed. The October business has ear, while the improvement in collec-flors of late is very marked, in fact beyond all anticipations. Notwith-standing the fine weather, the stove and standing the fine weather, the stove and leater trade has kept up, retaliers evidently not believing that the present golal weather is destined to last long. Delers say that a cold snap now will sad this phase of the trade going fater than ever. The mining machiner trade is not what it is hoped it would be, though the supply business a very fair. However, it is believed that by another spring mining operators will be ordering heavy machinery again.

LUMBER.

The lumber trade reports a good, steady business, though without spec-acular features. The car shortage is diminishing, so that it is easier now to get stocks through than formerly from the northwestern mills. The local yards are having all they can well attend to a furnishing lumber for houses being inished up in a hurry. If the winter is mild and open, building will continue undiminished throughout the seaton. Prices remain unchanged, but there is still a scarrity of except days. there is still a scarcity of cement, due more to the inability of the factories to fill orders than anything else. The demand for cement is unprecedented, owing to the increase in reinforced rete construction.

WHOLESALE DRY GOODS.

The wholesale dry goods trade is pursuing the even tenor and quiet of its way, shipping out re-orders and regular trade staples for spring delivery. However, there is some uneasiness in the face of still advancing prices in the face of still advancing prices in cottons, due to unsatig actory raw material conditions in the path. It is interesting to note that in spite of this some large wholesale houses have decided not to follow the sharp advance in prices, but to pay the advances in sales for spring warrant. Finished goods have not shown an advance equal to that in gray cloths, save possibly on bleached cottons and specialites. Print cloths continue in demand, the mills securing higher prices and holding back or love contracts. Draw doctors are specialities. on long contracts. Dress ginghams are marked up, with good reorders of finer qualities. The flannelet trade is active. Bleached goods hold remarkably strong. Fine goods are moving well with west-ern buyers and cutters after more sup-plies, particularly in fancy poptins, corded goods of all kinds, solid and mercerized goods.

Linen finished white goods are having

Linen finished white goods are having a large sale. The situation in silk and cottons is complicated by offering of many low priced and poorly constructed goods. Buyers are after knit goods, the demand for spot supplies being decidedly active. There is a searcity in the best ribbed cotton fabrics, with fancy prices for small lots. There is a brisk trade in hosper, the desired for fancy prices for small lots. There is a furs, dress brisk trade in hoslery. The demand for goods, etc.

velvet costumes. There is a good de-mand for crepe meteor, serges de sole and peau de cygne, and to some extent for satin charmeuse. Considerable faith is placed in taffetas as a spring fabric. Light weight serges are also sold well. An item of interest to the trade is the proposition to build a mil-icon-dollar linen plant at Detroit, the first of its kind in America,

SOUR STOMACH MINING WOMAN FOUND GUILTY

According to Her Victims, Mrs. Anna Wheeler Convinced Them She Had Clairvoyant Powers.

THEY WERE EASILY DUPED

She Saw Clouds of Gold Floating About Their Heads and Drifting Around Their Feet.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 5 .- Mrs. Anna Wheeler, "mining woman and promoter," said to have awindled hundreds in fake Nevada mining schemes, was convicted of fraud on three counts in the West Side court today, According to her victims, she convinced them that she possessed clairvoyant powers, and that while under guidance of spirits, she had seen clouds of gold ficating about their heads and drifting about their feet. She convinced them that all that was needed to precipitate the golden shower of sheckels and success was an investment in Nevada mining property owned by her.

Mrs. Wheeler's operation began during the height of the Goldfield excitement and she found no lack of dupes, her victims being women of the poorer who invested the savings of years on the promise of enormous dividends. The clouds surrounding the victims proved to have not even a silver lining, and the wearers of the golden aureoles sought redress in the courts, claiming that Mrs. Wheeler had appropriated the money to her own use. Mrs. Wheeler denies that she claimed clairvoyant powers and maintains that the money was invested by her but that the investments turned out badly. She laims that she lived at Lead, S. D. from 1881 to 1995, and that she located the Wall Street mine in the Black Hills

After several trips to Nevada in 1907 she claims that she returned to Deuver to secure funds with which to operate properties which she had secured with the Monnett brothers, who were among the most prominent leasers and operat

One of the first investors on whom the golden cloud story was operated was Mrs. August McCotter, a washer-woman, who launderied the lingerie of Mrs. Wheeler's daughter, who was then attending a fashionable and expensive private school in Denver. Mrs. McCot-ter was induced to invest her entire

Washington, Nov. 5.—"Man never will be able to solve the great social, industrial and other problems of civilization without the co-operation of women through the exercise of the elective franchise," declared Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, English suffragette leader, in an address here tonight.

Before an audience composed mostly of women, Mrs. Pankhurst, following an address of two hears on "Why Women Want to Vote," submitted to a rapid fire of interruptions by men and women on various phases of the suffrage cause.

"Do you think that an American woman ever will be president?" asked woman.
"That is the most extraordinary ques

THE PENNSYLVANIA PLACING CAR ORDERS

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 6.—More car orders are soon to be placed by the Pennsylvania company for the lines west. Inquiries sent out last week have west. Inquiries sent out last week have come to the car building companies for 5,000 new steel cars of the standard type, 100,000 pounds capacity for delivery next year. This inquiry is in addition to the 10,000 cars of the "battle-ship" type on which car companies are adding. Thus, in all, the Pennsylvania company now has under construction a total of 15,000 steel cars for 1910 delivery valued at about $18,000,000. In connection with the new 5,000 car order, it was said yesterday that the radicoad is asking for specifiations that include steel wheels for that lot of cars. The big order for "battleship" cars with a carying capacity of 77 tons each will also include all steel wheels, as it is the use of these wheels that makes the larger cars possible. The railroad of-ficials stated yesterday that all told the Pennsylvania would probably be in the market for 120,000 steel wheels in 1910 for freight cars alone.

CONFESSED FORGER HAS CONTEMPT FOR POLICE

Fresno, Cal., Nov. 6 .- An insult which is calculated to drive any policeman to drink was offered the Fresno department yesterday by A. T. Davis, a conessed forger.

Davis, who is wanted badly, sent the solice by mail a photograph and a description of himself and samples of his hand writing. He declared that he was living within two blocks of the police station, and that the police could not catch him. He invited the police to compare his handwriting with the writing on the alleged worthless checks. He also wrote the name J. E. McCay the name given on the checks, showing that the signatures were identical.

The police are not saving anything— The police are not saying anything—they are just digging. Thomas Woods, an alleged partner of Davis, is in jail. The pair are said to have had a systematic scheme of defrauding merchants of many cities.
